"THE CALVARY SPIRIT"

That 301 Sir Knights of Calvary should have appeared in full Templar uniform at Calvary's Inspection on the evening of April 16, braving one of the worst storms of rain and wind experienced here in years past in order to aid in getting our count for attendance, was one of the finest exhibitions of the "Calvary Spirit" in my recollection. It was an inspiring sacrifice they made for Calvary and one to make all of us more proud than ever before, of the distinction of belonging to a Commandery whose record and traditions bring out such devotion.

Many of these Sir Knights of Calvary came from a distance in order to do their part in putting their Commandery over the top. It would have been a worthy turnout on a pleasant evening; it was almost unbelievable on such a night as that of Tuesday. From the East the sight of those white cloaks with the blood-red Passion Cross and the white plumes in the chapeaus filling both sides of the Asylum with colorful beauty, was thrilling.

To everyone who thus had a share in making our 1929 Inspection the success it proved to be, goes my thanks, and that of my fellow officers and of Calvary Commandery. Your attendance was all we needed to aid us in getting our mark and in maintaining the high reputation of Calvary Commandery No. 13, for work and for loyalty.

Our mark was nine plus, as usual, one of the highest marks it is possible to secure. And you, if you were there, were largely responsible.
